

	And - The destination file contains only the overlapping regions of the two source images.
	Or - The destination file will contain all of the raster data from both source files.
	Xor - The destination file contains only those regions that do not overlap one another.
	Compare - The destination file contains only those regions of the first source file that are not overlapped by the second source file.